$200 REWARD.

RUNAWAY, or was decoyed off by some person on the 31st October last my negro woman NELLIE, about 30 years old, copper colored, square jawed, about 5 feet 5 1/2 inches high or more, weighed about 80 pounds, round smooth face, short a nose like whites of her eyes, has a dark complexion, her right wrist about as large as a 20 cent piece, has good reason to believe she has a freckled face, carries a free pass. Any person apprehending will negotiate with a pass without fail for $200 and the protection of any person, state or federal, or alone, and deliver her to me in Philadelphia, or where ever she may be found, and receive the above reward. NELLIE was raised in East Tennessee, and has lived in Cheatham, Rutherford, Davidson, Williamson, and Wilson. Her mother, William Bestard, a widow, and her brother now live in Cleveland, East Tennessee, and may make her way there. In addition to the above reward, I will pay fifty dollars for services sufficient to find any person of harboring her, black or white. Any information concerning her in the next four weeks will be liberally rewarded and questions asked.

To the Farmers of East Tennessee.

OUR arms need all the Hogs and Cattle you can fatten, and liberal prices will be paid for pork, Hogs, Beefs and Corn.

I have been selected to the purchase of hogs, cattle, &c., in East Tennessee, and will appoint a sufficient number of agents to assist me, and secure their territory, and will in due time publish their names.

I have determined to make prices uniform, and liberal, and I hope every hog in East Tennessee will be for pork, will be fattened.

My office, for the present, is Atlanta, Ga.—will move to Knoxville soon. Letters addressed to me at either point will be attended to.

MASONIC FEMALE INSTITUTE,
CLEVELAND, TENN.

Rev. J. N. Bradshaw, Principal.

THE next Session of this Institute will commence on the FIRST MONDAY of January 1863, under the direction and professorship of the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, who has had charge of it for the last 18 months.

The Trustees in making this announcement would most especially appeal to all citizens who have daughters to educate, to send them to this Institution. Mr. Bradshaw has had charge of the school for the last 15 months during which time he has made many examples of great success in the education of the Trustees, patrons and pupils. There never was a better time for men to educate their daughters than now—money is plenty—everything a farmer misses bears two prices, and the tuition to this School is the same that it was when everything was at its lowest ebb.

What excuse can there be now for a man who neglects to educate his daughter? None. Because here in Cleveland a highly educated, we have an institution with an excellent institution, and we have the best of documents, to instruct all who are fit to be with their patrons. Let one and all put their shoulder to the wheel and build up such a School as will be a creditable benefit to us and an honor to our town.

We have the Building and we have the men. The balance devolves upon the people. We hope they may nobly perform their duty.

The Trustees are thankful to the citizens for the patronage bestowed upon Mr. Bradshaw's Institute, and are glad to know that under his administration the Institution has not lost any of the enviable reputation it sustained in the former days of the Republic.

CHATTANOOGA, FRIDAY, JANUARY 2, 1863.

No. 127.

THE DAILY REBEL.

PUBLISHED BY

Franc. M. Paul.

FRIDAY MORNING, JAN. 2, 1863.

(From the Mobile Register, 27th.)

From New Orleans.

We are indebted to the politeness of a gentleman from New Orleans, for the perusal of a file of (Union) papers from that city.

The most important item of news is the removal of Gen. Butler from command in which he has managed to link his name with infamy, and which will bring him down to posterity as the vilest nest the American continent has produced. He is superseded by Gen. N. P. Banks, the same Banks that was abolished by Stonewall in the Shenandoah valley; Gen. Banks' promotion on taking command is well written, in some parts eloquent and very plausible document. It is plain that the harsh rule of the "Brute" is to give way to a gentler and more merciful policy, the talk is in a most evaporating style about protection of private property and making public amends for wrongs committed by the troops under his command.

We learn from the party who brought out these papers that the private dwellings of persons who have been turned out by the orders of the "Brute" for his officers and their paramours, have been ordered to be restored to their proper owners.

Not over $8,000 troops came out with Banks. It was rumored that he would disarm and disband the negro regiments. On the whole, there is a promise that the severity of the New Orleans reign of terror will be somewhat relaxed, and the people of that city will be gathered by the change of masters. Whether the Confederate cause will gain by the change is very questionable.

The New Orleans papers before us are engaged in a complimentary game of reciting the new General, as we expect his printing to go.

Brute Butler goes North. In Butler's "General Order," dated the 15th inst., he takes credit to be above far all that an army could accomplish to prevent subversion of the Queen City of the rebellion, whilst others waited idly in the marshes around St. Louis, and forced the surrender of a fort designed to repel a hostile attack by the most skillful engineers of your country and enemies.

You had so little transportation, that but a hundred could afford to remain garrisoned in the city, and the second-musters in Garrison end. A small division to be added to the "strange" eventful history of the war. The few thousand negroes who have been thus far held in confinement, will be released, and will be used to assist in the destruction of the Federal forces. The negroes were granted, and one hundred and twenty pieces of artillery, and a number of abolition officers are prisoners. Gens. Gill, McCook and Woodruff were killed.

Our loss heavy—enemy's estimated at five to one. Gen. Bragg, Col. McNair, and Col. Autrey of the 27th Mississippi, Lieut. R. C. Ennis, First of the 1st Louisiana, killed. Col. Black, 4th Georgia, and Col. Fish, twenty-fifth Louisiana, mortally wounded. Gens. Bragg and Polk displayed great judgment and heroism. Wharton's cavalry captured two thousand prisoners with a large supply wagon train and 400 horses. Yesterday Wharton burnt two hundred and eighty wagons in the enemy's rear and captured six hundred prisoners. Our troops covered themselves with glory. The battle may be resumed to-morrow.

Montgomery, Dec. 31.—The prisoners taken will probably exceed four thousand. Over forty pieces of artillery were captured. Men never fought better than our men have done.

TELEGRAPHIC.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY REBEL.]

THE GREAT BATTLE.

A Signal Victory!

Three Generals, four Batteries and Four Thousand Prisoners!!

GENERAL RAJAS KILLED!

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE REBEL.

We attacked the enemy in his position at about five and half A. M. The battle raged until five P. M. Our left wing drove the enemy's right back upon Stones River. Our advance steady, but resistance stubborn. We captured four batteries, and about four thousand prisoners, and prisoners.

We learn that the Confederate military authorities with the concurrence of Gov. Sharer of Ala., have determined to impress 700 negroes—200 of them in Madison county—to work out defenses for the Tennessee Valley, and that Maj. A. U. Board, of Marshall county, is agent for the impressed—a very injurious appointment.

Another Emily St. Clair Capture.

CHARLESTON, Dec. 31.—The British steam sloop-of-war Petrel, just from Fortress Monroe, is now off the bar, and will enter the harbor as soon as the tide permits.

It is reported that the French Corvette Minerve, now in the harbor, will remain until the receipt of further orders.

Another re-capture similar to the Emily St. Clair affair has taken place. The British schooner Tell, Capt. Arves, of Nassau, bound for a Confederate port, was taken by a Yankee vessel and put in charge of a prize crew.
